Chapter One

The Deal

There was a wise man in a guarded temple with a USB hard drive that he kept with him at all times. He used to be one of Reaper's strongest henchmen and most important, but when the man realized how cruel Reaper truly was and the new plans of becoming terrorists that's when the man left and escaped without being found or caught. And on that hard drive are the blueprints of Reaper's forgotten base that is extremely classified and not even his own men know it. In that base is a vault and in that vault is one of the strongest weapons known to man, it is too powerful to be in the wrong hands and if someone gets the information about the base then there could be a massive conflict between countries. But many other countries know that the USB has all the information to get to the superweapon, and every country sent special forces and secret agents to search for both the man and the USB. Not only is there a massive worldly search for a man and his USB but The Academy too sent one of their best students out for this search, but the only advantage that The Academy has is that they know exactly where he is. But the search might take a little longer than planned because the city of Osaka is still under Reaper's attack. It was five-thirty in the morning and Paul was wearing hooded robes so that the henchmen would not identify him walking by, the whole city was being searched, and people were being held captive, robbed, or even killed in the search. Some civilians even refused to let the soldiers come into their houses and ended up dead. The school itself was being attacked but Reaper sent orders to cease fire in it, when Paul made it to the secret temple underground he looked around but found no door at the end of the secret hallway, he looked for clues but found none. The hallway was dark and quiet, Paul felt uncomfortable but still continued, strong enough to destroy many of Reaper's henchmen, "he was fine" thought Paul as he walked deeper into the temple. About an hour later he walked into a dome room that had an underground zen garden that had a hole on top leading to the surface, and in the middle was a cherry blossom. It was beautiful, thought Paul as the soft petals slowly fell off the spectacular tree. He noticed the walls had strange drawings on them, he walked closer to the walls and slowly read the letters and the symbols, the drawings on the walls showed a group of ancient Japanese men on one side of a river fending off a group of evil warriors, but Paul noticed a very important detail on their hands and behind them. The men had some red flame-looking essence on their arms and were accompanied by red dragons, Paul had never seen such things before, it was ancient anyway though Paul as he continued to read more of the writing explained a powerful ability that is natural and can be trained called the Zen piece weapon. Paul remembered seeing Matthew use the same looking ability when he fought Reaper before leaving. Paul read more and became fascinated at this ancient ability he had never seen or heard before until he heard a voice behind him, "I see you looked fascinated at what you are seeing, this ability is quite rare now." said a hooded figure behind him. "And I've also noticed you entered my palace without permission... you must be looking for something, you cannot have it. No one can be trusted with it." said the man pointing a handgun at Paul. Paul slowly raised his hands up, "You don't understand, we need this weapon to destroy Reaper." said Paul. "That's what the others said when they too searched for it... poor souls never came out alive." said the man in a threatening way. Paul slightly turned, catching a glimpse of the man before swiftly dashing towards the man to disarm him, Paul focused his strength and used the legendary Doi ability on him. Massive pointy rocks grew out of the ground and targeted the man but he swiftly dodged the stone. "Oh great, my beautiful zen garden, how much it will cost me to repair it..." said the man sarcastically. Instead Paul used his strongest technique and formed two massive hands made out of his ion ability and started to slam the man. "That's enough! I don't want to hurt you! I just need the hard drive and that's it!" yelled Paul.

But the man refused and continued to fight against Paul and put more pressure until the man grew tired and forfeited, "Please, don't make me kill you. That's not what I'm looking for, I'm just trying to help Oskaka!" yelled Paul "just like you are!" The man sat down covered in blood and exhausted. The man responded, "Fine, but you must win it first..." "Deal, let's go then." said Paul reaching out his hand. The man grabbed his hand and helped him up, both of them walked to another room which was hidden behind ancient debris, it led to a shrine, both men sat down. The man pushed what looked like a pressure plate on the ground and out came a small squared shallow table, the man slowly placed the hard drive and put it in the middle of the table and they began the deal. Paul pulled out a case of money out of thin air, the man looked around Paul but there would have been no possible way for him to carry that with him. "It's complicated..." said Paul, smiling. He opened the case and offered the money to the man, "this is about ¥14,957,100.000 yen... don't ask where I got this, it's a long story." said Paul smiling. The man looked shocked and pleased at the sight of the case but still was not satisfied, "Pathetic!" spat the man. Paul looked bewildered, "WHAT DO YOU--never mind... Fine, I'll offer you more... How's ¥29,918,000.00..." said Paul looking disappointed. "That would be perfect!" smiled the man. "Please... do this carefully, no one can be trusted with this... no one." said the man worried. "It's alright, this is for Osaka and even the whole world... We won't let the world down." said Paul. Paul walked out of the temple with the hard drive in his hand heading toward the Academy putting on his hood and going incognito. About an hour later Paul arrived at the school and found out that to his surprise the school was under captivity by Reaper's henchmen, Paul was horrified at this sight. They probably captured everyone, Paul tried communicating to Chigusa through radio and waited for a response but got none, he began to worry when he heard a sound behind him. Turning around Rose was there with a sniper on the roof with him "looks like we have more on our hands than we thought." said Rose checking the rooftops of the city. "Did you get it at least?" "yeah, it was quite the mission. Lost all the money I wanted... even the money I saved." said Paul. "Paul! Money is not relevant right now! At least you got it." yelled Rose, annoyed. "Just give me it, I'll send it to principal Ren. And you just keep an eye on the building." said Rose as she climbed off the building they were on and disappeared out of sight. As Rose entered the Academy's hangar she faced some henchmen, there were about twenty and total and she was outnumbered, as she tried to escape Maveric arrived with Yuki and took down some of the guards, the rest cowardly ran deeper into the building locking the door behind them. "You all right?" Yuki asked Rose. Until the doors of the hangar suddenly closed keeping the three captured in the room two juggernauts entered the room with heavy miniguns and started to fire at them, the three tried to duck to avoid the shots there was a loud bang from the hangar entrance and a big red beam of light. The entrance filled with smoke as the three looked at each other in confusion the juggernauts looked behind to see what was going on when a massive red transparent dragon took them both out and then a figure slowly emerged out of the smoke firing a minigun that was strapped to their arm immediately destroying both juggernauts.
